Thanks to our dedicated, and wonderful attendees...

The Ohio Early Childhood Conference has been named as the BEST association event in the country!

By embracing the collective wisdom at the conference, you can return to your program invigorated, equipped with transformative insights and renewed passion.

Ohio AEYC creates a collaborative, energizing and fun environment for educators to learn and share.

We seek to help break down the silos we often find ourselves in and allow educators the opportunity to connect with professionals outside their “circle”.

“Just what my team
needed!”

-Conference Attendee

"Need to re-ignite your passion? Need to build up your team? Need to feel supported in the amazing field of ECE? Then the Ohio AEYC Conference is the place to be! You leave with your passion sparked, your team is in full collaboration mode, and you feel unstoppable in what you can achieve next in the world of ECE!"

-Conference Attendee

"The BEST professional development conference I've ever attended!"

-Conference Attendee

"It was an amazing time, great connections with colleagues and resources for our early education classrooms and fun with co-workers in the evenings."

-Conference Attendee

"Even after 30 years of teaching, I came away with new learning and new ideas!"

-Conference Attendee

"I'm so honored to attend the conference! You all love on us so much and make us feel like celebrities!"

-Conference Attendee

"The camaraderie of being with like-minded people brought an immeasurable amount of joy to my heart!"

-Conference Attendee

"Amazing!
Fun,
engaging,
and inspiring!"

-Conference Attendee

"It was very refreshing to be able to attend this conference with all the teachers at my school. It provided a boost in morale and gave us many ideas to bring back to our classrooms."

-Conference Attendee

"The atmosphere was so uplifting and fun!"

-Conference Attendee

"This is just what I needed!"

-Conference Attendee

"I always leave the conference with such excitement! The information gained and connections made are priceless!"

-Conference Attendee

"WOW! Not only did I receive those OA hours, but I also felt rejuvenated and with a renewed spirit. Thank you!"

-Conference Attendee

"The conference invigorated my love of learning and refreshed my purpose when I was starting to feel jaded by the early childhood education field. I am excited to take what I learned and improve my effectiveness as a preschool teacher!"

-Conference Attendee

"I learned so much at the conference and my students have responded very well! I can't wait for the 2024 conference!"

Hear our Voices: Engaging in Partnerships that Honor Families

Session Code: T102

Session Time: 8:00 AM-10:00 AM

Featured Speaker

Families are their children's first teachers. Early childhood educators know this, but what does it mean in practice? Participation, involvement, and engagement are the first steps toward the true goal: reciprocal family partnerships. Discover how to move beyond inviting families to program events or connecting them to resources and instead recognize them as experts who meaningfully contribute to children's learning and development. These partnerships are essential to support learner progress and achieving language and literacy development. Attendees of this session will receive the presenter's book: "Hear Our Voices! Engaging in Partnerships that Honor Families."

Learning through Play: Using Observation and Documentation to Expand and Encourage Child-Led Learning

Session Code: T106

Session Time: 8:30 AM-10:00 AM

This presentation uses the themes of play schema and the ideas of emergent curriculums to provide a framework to follow a child's lead in their own discovery and learning. Using play schema and emergent curriculum we can expand on the interest and curiosity of children to develop their own learning experiences. Using observation and documentation we can help others to see the learning inside the play.

The Pedagogy & Practice of Care in Early Childhood Communities

Session Code: T113

Session Time: 8:30 AM-10:00 AM

In this session participants will gain a deeper understanding of what care is, the expectations around care in early childhood settings, and practice articulating some common myths and truths about the inseparability of education and care. When you first started teaching; what was the picture in your mind of your role as educator? In this session participants will gain new perspective on their vision of the teacher and confront past hierarchies of care routines and tasks that may be alive in their minds. So much learning happens while humans are engaged in life alongside one another and together we will practice naming the learning that happens while children are engaged in play and care rituals during the school day!

How to Give a Child a Smart Start

Session Code: T209

Session Time: 1:00 PM-2:30 PM

Featured Speaker

Study after study shows that the brain architecture for reading develops rapidly during infancy, and early language experiences are critical to building it. Yet parents, who are children's primary "teachers" in the pivotal first years of life, often don't know what to do, when, or how. In this presentation, Maya Smart describes how language develops from birth and outlines what early childhood educators can do to nurture it at each stage. Audiences leave armed with information about the critical importance of back-and-forth conversational exchanges with young children, plus practical ideas for providing kids with more language nutrition and helping their parents do the same.

Let's Say It In Song! Adding Rhythm To Your Routine

Session Code: T310

Session Time: 3:00 PM-4:30 PM

This session is for everyone, both the talented and the "vocally timid". Our first objective is to build each participant's confidence and help them believe in your ability to engage children using music as a means to "teach". Participants will examine a wide variety of ways to enhance their planned daily activities by adapting them to incorporate more music, movement, chants, rhythm, and rhymes. We will share specific ways to "say it in song"... to easily and successfully incorporate music into their own structured lessons, thus creating more positive and meaningful learning experiences. Attendees will leave this session with a myriad of musical activity ideas that they can use immediately in their classrooms.

Talking to Listen: Exploring Family Stressors and Creating Positive Relationships to Support Families

Session Code: T313

Session Time: 3:00 PM-6:00 PM

Children react differently to stress and trauma, which can sometimes exhibit itself as challenging behaviors in the classroom and at home. This session will help early childhood professionals understand the impact that family stressors (such as a death, food insecurity, changes in placement, community violence, etc.) can have on both children and their caregivers. Participants will learn how to notice these family stressors; how to communicate with caregivers to build relationships that provide a supportive environment for young children; and self-regulation strategies to manage strong emotions when having difficult conversations with caregivers.

Inside America's Reading Crisis: How You Can Help & Why You Should

Session Code: TBonus1
Session Time: 5:00-6:30 PM

Featured Speaker

The pandemic hurt the reading prospects of an entire generation—and of the society that will share their future. Many school-age children face lasting learning setbacks, as supplemental educational programs haven't made up for lost classroom time. Plus, Covid-era infants, toddlers, and preschoolers show lower verbal, motor, and cognitive performance compared to pre-pandemic levels and frequently suffered delayed access to developmental screenings and early intervention services. But there's hope: us. We all have a role to play in turning the tide, and this session offers inspiring stories of diverse literacy champions who've found creative ways to make a difference. Attendees of this session will receive the presenter's book: "Reading for Our Lives: A Literacy Action Plan from Birth to Six."

Playing Beyond Walls: Leveraging the Power of Outdoor Play in Early Childhood

Session Code: F111

Session Time: 8:30 AM-10:00 AM

Featured Speaker

While the number of nature-based preschools is increasing, there are more young children needing experiences with nature than these programs can provide. At the same time, many early childhood educators who understand the value of outdoor experiences find themselves in a traditional setting unsure of how to meaningfully integrate nature into their programs. This session will help early childhood providers, no matter their situation, consider the principles fundamental to a nature-based approach and integrate those principles into play-based teaching and learning. Using a continuum of NbECE as the overarching framework, Rachel will provide the group with concrete ways to better integrate nature into the program structure, physical environment (inside and outside), and teacher-child interactions.

Create Effective Teamwork By Navigating Work Styles

Session Code: S303

Session Time: 3:00 PM-4:30 PM

Have you ever had conflict with someone when trying to work together? Does it seem like others approach work differently than you? In this session we will look at the variety of work styles and how each style can influence the team. These working styles affect how people make decisions; deal with change, how they treat risks and how they respond to each other. Participants will identify their dominant work style and discuss examples of what they need based on that work style and the ways to work with others who have different styles. Participants will leave understanding how all approaches to work can add value and enhance teamwork and collaborate.

Visuals for Problem-Solving Conflict in the ECE Classroom (Conscious Discipline®)

Session Code: S315

Session Time: 3:00 PM-4:30 PM

Featured Speaker

Under the age of five, the brain is highly sensitive to peer interactions in social norms and context, in addition to the fact that children encode their world in pictures until the age of seven. Daily conflicts between children in the ECE classroom are inevitable! In this session, we will be reflecting on our own adult beliefs regarding "behavior" first, become equipped with visual tools from a variety of sources to assist in conflict resolution to build independence with children, use positive reinforcement strategies, and share our love for learning in the room with one another. Join us to be problem solvers instead of admiring endless problems!
