FEATURED PRESENTER

Lance Reed

Lance originally wanted to be a high school principal and athletic director. In college he had to work with all age groups and spent over 60 hours in a preschool classroom. To his surprise he ended up enjoying it much more than he expected! He changed his major and earned a Bachelor of Arts with a major in Early Childhood Education and Master of Arts specializing in Educational Leadership from Siena Heights University. He has been a Head Start teacher and Education Coordinator and is certified as a CLASS Train the Trainer. Additionally, he serves as an Early Childhood & Assessment Field Consultant with HighScope® Educational Research Foundation.
